Moreover, in the case of an applicant which is a legal person or an organizational unit without legal personality, or a foreign entrepreneur, or a foreign entrepreneur conducting activity in the territory of the Republic of Poland as a branch with a registered office in the territory of the Republic of Poland, established under the terms and conditions specified in the Act of 6 March 2018 on the rules of participation of foreign entrepreneurs and other foreign persons in the economic trade on the territory of Poland the condition referred to in Article 33 item 3 section 3 also applies to persons authorized to represent them and members of supervisory boards (see Art. 33 item 3 section 3 of the Energy Law Act).

It should also be borne in mind that pursuant to Article 33 item 3c of the Energy Law Act the President of ERO shall suspend the licence granting proceedings in case of an applicant with respect to which a decision was issued to present charges of committing a crime or a fiscal crime related to the business activity it conducts, or when such a decision was issued with respect to persons and members referred to in Article 33 item 3a until the preparatory and court proceedings are completed.

On the other hand pursuant to Article 33 item 3d of the Energy Law Act, the President of ERO may refuse granting the licence to an applicant who does not guarantee the proper performance of the business activities covered by the licence.

In addition, it should be highlighted that pursuant to Article 41 item 2 of the Energy Law Act, the President of ERO shall revoke a licence in the following cases:

1. When final judgement forbidding to conduct business activities covered by the licence has been issued or when the energy company has not undertaken the business activities covered by the licence within the set period of time, despite the request of the President of ERO, or permanently ceased to carry out this activity.
2. Withdrawal of the permit by the relevant Head of Tax Office to operate a tax warehouse or expiry of such permit, if before the expiry the entity has not obtained a new permit, in the manner and on the terms specified in separate regulations – in relation to the activities covered by this permit.

Nevertheless, as stated in Article 41, item 4, section 7 of the Energy Law Act, the President of ERO may revoke the licence, or change its scope if it is found that the licensee does not provide a guarantee of a proper performance of the activities covered by the licence.

Promise of licence

Pursuant to Article 43 item 1 of the Energy Law Act, each person who intends to conduct business activity involving trading in electricity, which is subject to licensing, or to modify its scope, may apply for a promise of licence or a promise of licence modification, which is a form of a promise to grant/modify a licence. The licence validity term specified in the promise may not be shorter than six months (Article 43 item 3 of the Energy Law Act).

During the promise validity term, granting a licence for the activity specified in the promise or its modification cannot be denied unless the factual or legal status specified in the application to issue the promise has changed (Article 43 item 4 of the Energy Law Act). The promise of licence does not give the right to conduct business activity in the scope which requires the licence. Therefore, licensed activity may not be performed under a promise. The promise may, however, be the document which makes it easier for the company to acquire financing for the planned investment project and also to secure the licence in the future because the entrepreneur must gather the specified documents applying for the promise of licence. More details on this may be found below.

Pursuant to Article 43 item 5 of the Energy Law Act, the provisions of Article 35 shall apply accordingly to the application for issuing a promise.

Modification and extension of the granted licence

Entrepreneurs applying for the modification of the licence should attach to the application documentation on the subject of modification to the issued licence. Modifications in the licence in principle can be divided into two types, that is concerning formal legal situation of the licensee (e.g. change of the name, address or registered office or company's or partnership's partners, etc.) and concerning extension of the scope of activity, which is associated with technical capabilities available to the licensee (e.g. intention to extend the scope of a licence with a new area of activity). In the first case, the application should include formal legal documents concerning the situation of the licensee, while in the second case it is of particular importance to demonstrate technical capabilities and financial means at the disposal of the licensee. The list of the necessary documents to be submitted in both cases is included in the further part of the information package. However, in the situation when the modification is limited solely to updating the name, registered office or address of licence holder, such modification may be done based on current information from National Court Register (KRS), depending on factual and legal situation in a given case.

It should be highlighted that pursuant to Article 37 item 2c of the Energy Law Act, in the case of a change of the data referred to in Article 37 item 1 sections 1 and 7 of the Act (that is the designation of the entity, its registered office or place of residence and their address, the number assigned in the Register of Entrepreneurs kept by the National Court Register, provided that the entrepreneur has such a number, or a number of an equivalent register of the Member States of the European Union, Swiss Confederation, Member State of the European Free Trade Agreement (EFTA) – a party to the agreement on the European Economic Area or Turkey, and the tax identification number - NIP), the energy company shall apply for a modification of the licence not later than within seven days of the occurrence of these changes. The deadline begins to run on the day following the day on which the entry into National Court Register was announced in the Court and Economic Monitor (Monitor Sądowy i Gospodarczy) (see: Communication of the President of Energy Regulatory Office of 11 August 2017 No. 56/2017 on way and date of fulfilling, by commercial companies registered in the National Court Register, an obligation to apply for licence modification in case of change in name, address, registered office, National Court Register Number, Tax Identification Number or the EU VAT number, and fulfilling the notification obligation in case of change in data of partner, shareholder or authorized person or a member of the body authorized to represent, as well as notification obligations determined in licence requirements).

Pursuant to Article 39 the Energy Law Act, the entrepreneur shall submit an application for an extension of the licence not later than 18 months before its expiration date (determined by the date of posting the application in a Polish post office managed by an operator specified within the meaning of the Postal Act of 23 November 2012, (Journal of Laws of 2022, item 896, as amended). Extension of the licence is equivalent to recognition by the licensing authority that the entrepreneur meets the conditions for the exercise of the licensed activity specified in the Act. This involves the necessity to examine whether the company which has applied for an extension of the licence still meets the conditions specified in Article 33 of the Energy Law Act for exercising business activities covered by the licence and if the formal legal status as of the licence granting date has not changed.

After the expiration of the abovementioned deadline for submitting the application for an extension of a licence, an entrepreneur intending to continue the activities covered by the licence shall apply for reissuing the licence. It is important to note that such a request should be submitted in time allowing to process it and issue a decision on granting a new licence before the expiration date of the previous licence in accordance with the terms set out in the Act on the Administrative Proceedings Code of 14 June 1960 (Journal of Laws of 2023, item 775), hereinafter referred to as the "Administrative Proceedings Code". Both when applying for licence extension and for reissuing of the licence, the documents required for submitting an application for issuing a licence shall be attached to it.

Preparing the application

When preparing the application to grant a licence /a promise of licence to trading in electricity, the applicant should be aware of the fact that the better and more completely the application is prepared (it contains all the necessary exhibits), the smoother the licensing process will run. The scope of the presented documentation should make it possible to determine that the Applicant fulfils all of the conditions required for securing the licence and that there are no circumstances pertaining to the Applicant which justify refusal of granting the licence.

The application to grant a licence (or a promise of licence, respectively – see Article 43 item 5 of the Energy Law Act) should contain in particular the following (Article 35 item 1 of the Energy Law Act):

- 1) designation of the applicant and its registered office, registered office of its branch in the territory of the Republic of Poland or place of residence and their address, and if proxies are appointed to perform the legal transactions on the applicant's behalf, it should also include their first and last names and their addresses (if several proxies are appointed, it is necessary to indicate one proxy for correspondence delivery);
- 2) specification of the subject matter and scope of the conducted activity for which the licence/promise of licence is to be issued;
- 3) information about the applicant's previous activity, including its financial statements for the last three years if the entity is conducting business activity;
- 4) specification of the term for which the licence/promise of a licence is to be granted and specification of the start date of the activity;
The licence is granted for a definite term not shorter than 10 years and not longer than 50 years unless the entrepreneur requests a licence for a shorter term (Article 36 of the Energy Law Act). A promise of licence is granted for a definite term, not shorter than six months (Article 43 item 3 of the Energy Law Act);
- 5) specification of the resources available to the entity applying for the licence/promise of a licence, for the purpose of ensuring a correct performance of the activity covered by the application;
- 6) number in the register of entrepreneurs kept by the National Court Register, provided that the entrepreneur has such a number, or a number of an equivalent register of the Member States of the European Union, Swiss Confederation, Member State of the European Free Trade Agreement (EFTA) – a party to the agreement on the European Economic Area or Turkey, and the tax identification number (NIP);
- 7) appendices according to the specification presented in the following part of this compilation.

The President of ERO shall deny granting a licence/promise of a licence to an Applicant failing to meet the conditions prescribed by the law, pursuant to Article 35 item 3 of the Energy Law Act.

Pursuant to Article 35a of the Energy Law Act, before making a decision regarding granting the licence or its amendment, the President of ERO may verify the facts provided in the application for granting a licence or its amendment in order to determine whether the entrepreneur meets the conditions for conducting business activities covered by the licence and whether it guarantees the proper performance of these activities.

Furthermore, pursuant to Article 38 of Energy Law Act, granting the licence may depend on the submission of collateral on property by an applicant in order to satisfy any third party claims that may occur as a result of improper licensed business conduct, including damage to the environment.

Detailed rules for collateral on property are indicated in Article 38 item 2 and subsequent of the Energy Law Act. In accordance with Article 38 item 3 of the above mentioned Act, the President of ERO calls the applicant to indicate the planned amounts of revenues referred to in Article 38 item 2, within a period of not less than 30 days, under pain of application for a licence not being processed.

Pursuant to Article 35 item 2a of the Energy Law Act, if the application to grant the licence does not contain all the necessary information or documents required by the provisions of the Act, the President of ERO shall immediately request the applicant to deliver the missing documents within a period of not less than 21 days from the request delivery date. Whereas pursuant to Article 35 item 2b of the Energy Law Act, failure to provide the missing documents for an application for granting a licence within a set deadline in the manner meeting all the conditions required by the Act shall result in the application not being processed. This results in the procedure being closed and requires the application to be resubmitted with all the required documents, while the documents previously submitted to the Energy Regulatory Office may be used in that new procedure provided that they are still valid. If the applicant's address is not specified in the application and it is not possible to determine that address on the basis of available data, the application will not be processed (Article 64 § 1 of the Code of Administrative Procedure).

Moreover, it should be noted that in accordance with Article 41 item 1 of Energy Law Act, President of ERO may change the terms of a granted licence. However, as stated in Article 41 item 1a of the above mentioned Act, the President of ERO may change the terms of a granted licence, in particular in the case of necessity to adopt them to the effective legal status, or for the purpose of preventing practices which harm the interests of customers or jeopardize the development of competition.

Duration of the procedure

The duration of the licensing procedure mostly depends on completeness of the submitted application, possibly the party's activity in supplementing the necessary documents and information. It is recommended to submit the application duly in advance before the intended date of launching the licensed activity.

If the application contains all the necessary attachments or will be completed, the case will be processed in accordance with Article 35 § 1 of the Code of Administrative Procedure.

It is important that under Article 35 § 5 of the Code of Administrative Procedure, the deadlines envisaged in the provisions of law for performing the specified actions and the periods of delay resulting from a party's fault or from reasons beyond the regulatory authority's control are not included in the deadlines for handling the case. Therefore, a party's failure to take actions in compliance with the regulatory authority's summons may cause the administrative case to be handled in a correspondingly longer period of time.

It should be kept in mind that according to Article 35 items 2a and 2b of the Energy Law Act, only submitting a complete application, that is containing all the required documents and information, results in initiating an administrative procedure for granting a licence (promise) and the time limit for processing the case runs from this date.

Fees associated with securing the licence (promise of licence)

According to Art. 43aa of the Energy Law Act, a stamp fee is charged for granting a licence or its modification as well as granting a promise of licence or its modification.

If the original (or in respect of charges for the power-of-attorney - a certified copy) of the stamp fee payment receipt is not attached to the application, the entrepreneur will be summoned to make the relevant payment. If the stamp fee payment receipt is not provided despite the fact that the summons to send it was dispatched, this will be a premise for returning the application pursuant to Article 261 item 2 of the Code of Administrative Procedure.

In case of missing confirmation of the stamp fee payment receipt for the power-of-attorney or proxy, pursuant to Article 11 items 1 and 3 of the Stamp Fee Act, the President of ERO shall provide
